Announcing: Technology Mini-Grant Application

Thank you so much to everyone who submitted an application to our technology mini-grant program. We have never done anything like this before, and it's been an inspiring experience reading about the great work you are all doing in the community, despite the challenges presented by the COVID-19 pandemic. If we could have given awards to all of you, we would have.

We had an OVERWHELMING response to this program, with a total of 328 applicants. We used the fairest selection process we could design, relying on a random number generator to select applicants from different regions across the state, and then verifying their entries met all of the requirements outlined.

Because of the high volume of requests, we included an additional four awards, for a total of twenty four $500 grants.
