Greetings Campers I’ve met and those I hope to,

As another October approaches, like many of you we had looked forward to gathering at our favorite destination, Camp Finance at Mohonk Mountain House to celebrate the 20th year of delivering the one conference you’ve told us year after year is marked in stone on your calendars. We waited to talk with our partners and hosts at Mohonk until there was clarity on our options for an in-person Camp Finance and ultimately, they decided to exercise the utmost caution and limit their groups’ sizes until year end. While this is not the answer we hoped for, we commend Mohonk’s management for putting their guests’ health and safety first and we look forward to joining them on the mountaintop next October.

Like you, we at NYCON adapted to the COVID-19 pandemic environment and now welcome the view of what we hope is light at the end of the tunnel, while remaining committed to keeping the health and safety those we serve in New York’s vital nonprofit community and our staff and board at the forefront of our decision-making.

Our 20th anniversary Camp Finance is going virtual again in 2021. Camp Finance at Mohonk Mountain HouseTM Celebrating Nonprofit Resilience: Building for the Future, October 6th-8th will remain the conference New York’s nonprofit leaders have repeatedly called the most exciting and informative professional development opportunity in the New York and though we won’t be able to physically welcome you to Mohonk, we’re designing sessions to bring you the latest information to make your Camp Finance experience informative, interactive, thought-provoking and fun! We’ll be celebrating your resilience as well as Camp Finance’s 20th anniversary and we have some special things in store throughout our 3 days together!

You see the familiar faces of faculty who’ve joined us year after year because our participants consistently ask for more. Allen Fetterman, CPA, Allan M. Blum, CPA and David M. Rotkamp, CPA will offer their unparalleled expertise once more at this year’s Camp Finance. We’re weaving together sessions considering how we build for our futures, incorporate meaningful practices that thread diversity, equity and inclusion into our work and workplaces, and of course the impact of and practical tools for navigating our way through a changed environment, considering hybrid workplaces, space needs, financial sustainability and more.

While Camp Finance began as a financial management conference developed first and foremost for CFOs, fiscal staff and board members with fiscal oversight responsibilities, we continue to expand our sessions to be informative and beneficial to other stakeholders, communications, marketing, program and fund development staff and board members.

Our pricing also allows more of your team to participate at an affordable rate! $550 for an unlimited number of staff and board members from your organization and $300 for up to four individuals from your nonprofit.

On behalf of the entire NYCON team, please JOIN US at Camp Finance 2021! We’d love the opportunity to celebrate your resilience!
